

YPAC summary of the first day

Finally, the YPAC has started! How exciting is that? This year's YPAC is a little different because of the current situation. The team from Trogen really came up with an innovative way of hosting the event. YPAC is celebrating the 15th edition and with that 15 years of tireless engagement of young adults in politics. It promotes cultural diversity and equal access opportunity.

The theme this year is children's rights which is a very important topic, especially right now in the time of a global pandemic when children are deprived of their right to education, movement and participation. The politicians in the parliaments do not listen to children, they do not take us into account or consider our opinions. Because of that a lot of children do not have a voice to speak up about the problems we are facing on a daily level, yet still no one is doing much about it. That's why the topic of children's rights is so important and that's why we at YPAC have to represent the ones who cannot represent themselves.
